Evaluation Glossary - `Eval-Wiki: Glossar der Evaluation`

Since autumn 2010 Univation hosts the free of charge online-glossary `Eval-Wiki: Glossar der Evaluation`, where now about 420 technical terms of evaluation are defined. The Wiki also gives an English and French translation as well as references. We constantly work on improving the descriptions and add new terms. You are welcome to use the glossary or register and comment on our definitions and translations.

To suggest new terms for definition and work/comment on them, we created the `Eval-Wiki: Glossar-Werkstatt` (glossary workshop). Any terms that are defined, translated and equipped with references to our satisfaction will be transferred from the glossary workshop to the main glossary. We will be happy to receive your comments or suggestions!
